Introduction

Who We Are

The National Suicide Research Foundation is an independent, multi-disciplinary research unit which investigates the causes of suicide, self-harm and related mental health and social factors in Ireland. The unit has a long-standing link with the Department of Epidemiology and Public Health in University College Cork and is located in the Western Gateway Building in University College Cork as part of the National Population Health Sciences Centre.

The members of the research team come from a broad range of disciplines, including psychology, psychiatry, medicine, sociology, epidemiology, public health, biostatistics and health services research.

What We Do

The National Suicide Research Foundation undertakes research into varying topics relating to suicide and self-harm and, accordingly, provides the knowledge base for suicide prevention, intervention and postvention strategies.

We also provide training and positive mental health promotional programmes to a variety of audiences.

Our Aims

1. To Examine: By monitoring trends, risk factors and protective factors associated with suicide and self-harm.
2. To Intervene: By applying evidence-based interventions at a local, national and international level.
3. To Translate: By translating and disseminating research in order to inform and impact on policy and practice.

The Outcome

A solid evidence base for:

- Policy development and intervention regarding the prevention of suicide.
- The management of patients presenting to Emergency Departments with deliberate self-harm.

Foreword

This Annual Report serves a dual purpose. It contains the Members' Report and Financial Statements for the year ended December 31st 2014, as tabled at the Annual General Meeting of the Board of Members held on September 15th 2015, and additionally contains a summary report on the research and associated activities undertaken by the team at the National Suicide Research Foundation (NSRF) in 2014/2015.

The NSRF is a Limited Company Number 224676 and has been granted Charitable Status by the Office of the Revenue Commissioners - CHY 11351.

The NSRF is in receipt of funding from the Health Service Executive's National Office for Suicide Prevention for its core research activities as well as the running of the National Self Harm Registry Ireland. Additionally, it has a long track record in obtaining grant funding from agencies such as the European Commission and the Health Research Board of Ireland. A breakdown of the Income and Expenditure 2014, in respect of the different tranches of funding, is contained in the Financial Statements 2014.

In accordance with the Companies Acts 1963 to 2013, the Financial Statements 2014 have been prepared by independent auditors Hickey & Associates, Cork. They have been approved by the members of the Executive Committee and have been submitted to the Companies Registration Office. The turnover in 2014 was €1,317,110 and the net surplus for the year after taxation was €69,420. The NSRF employed thirty seven people during 2014. Costs in respect of salaries and pensions amounted to €897,343 and social security costs were €89,060. The total liability to the Revenue Commissioners in respect of 2014 PAYE/PRSI/USC was €301,830. We are grateful to Ms Shelley Meenehan of Hickey & Associates for her sterling work on the audit of the NSRF accounts.

The NSRF was established by the late Dr Michael J Kelleher in November 1994. The mission then, and now, is to provide a nationally and internationally recognised body of reliable knowledge from a multi-disciplinary perspective on the risk and protective factors associated with suicidal behaviour with an ultimate aim of providing a solid evidence base for policy development and intervention in the prevention of suicide and the management of patients presenting with deliberate self harm. The NSRF relocated to the Western Gateway Building in University College Cork in 2012 following Professor Ivan J Perry's successful bid for a capital grant to the Higher Education Authority under the Programme for Research in Third Level Institutions, to establish the National Population Health Sciences Centre.

In terms of the number of studies being conducted by NSRF staff members, and the number of publications and presentations/lectures, there has been a further increase since 2013. NSRF staff members have also received an increasing number of requests to serve on national and international advisory panels and steering committees, which reflects the importance of the specialist expertise provided by NSRF staff. In 2014, the NSRF, together with the Central Statistics Office, initiated the CSO Suicide Mortality Statistics Liaison Group involving relevant stakeholders in Ireland.

In 2014 and 2015, NSRF staff members were successful recipients of national and international research awards, including major HRB and EU grants, such as the HRB General Research Awards, Research Leadership Awards, and EU Marie Curie, and Consumer, Health, Agriculture and Food (CHA-FA) awards. In this regard, the NSRF made a significant contribution to the recent Research Quality Review of the Department of Epidemiology and Public Health, University College Cork, which received the highest possible rating. The NSRF contributed in particular to the critical mass of peer review publications and awarded research grant applications.

Following a selection procedure in UCC, Professor Arensman and the NSRF were successful in the 2015 funding programme of the Health Research Board - Research Leadership Award in connection with the 5-year research programme: “Individual and Area Level Determinants of Self-Harm and Suicide in Ireland: Enhancing Prediction, Risk Assessment and Management of Self-Harm by Health Services”. The HRB will provide €1.4 million in funding for the research programme.

NSRF staff members contributed intensively to the development of the new National Strategy to Reduce Suicide, 2015-2020, Connecting for Life, in particular by contributing to four steering and working groups, and by providing numerous evidence briefs on a wide range of topics related to suicide and self-harm. The data from the National Self-Harm Registry Ireland will form a key component of the Strategy’s Outcomes Framework to monitor progress and to examine the impact of implemented actions over the next five years. In this context, the NSRF has prepared a proposal to lead the development of a national research agenda supporting the strategic goals and actions of Connecting for Life.

In 2014 and 2015, the NSRF strengthened its links with the World Health Organisation (WHO). Members of the NSRF contributed to the WHO Report: Preventing Suicide: A Global Imperative, and to the launch of this report at the WHO Headquarters in Geneva on 5th September 2014. The NSRF has also been successful in an application to become a WHO Collaborating Centre in Surveillance and Research in Suicide Prevention.

In 2015, Professor Arensman was re-elected President of the International Association for Suicide Prevention (IASP), which has members in more than 60 countries and is in official relations with WHO.

We would like to thank the members of the NSRF team for their dedication and hard work in 2014 and look forward to continuing to work together in efforts to provide the strong research base necessary to underpin efforts in addressing the significant public health issue that is suicide.

SURVEILLANCE SYSTEMS

The National Self-Harm Registry Ireland

The National Self-Harm Registry Ireland is a national system of population monitoring for the occurrence of self-harm. The Registry collects data based on persons presenting to hospital emergency departments as a result of an episode of self-harm, as defined by the Registry. As of 2006 the Registry has obtained full coverage of all general and paediatric hospital emergency departments in the Republic of Ireland.

The Registry aims:

- To establish the extent and nature of hospital-treated self-harm in Ireland.
- To monitor trends over time and by area.
- To contribute to policy and development in the area of suicidal behaviour.
- To help the progress of research and prevention.

Personnel Involved: Prof. Ivan Perry (NSRF; Epidemiology and Public Health, University College Cork); Prof. Ella Arensman; Dr. Paul Corcoran (NSRF; Cork University Maternity Hospital); Ms. Eileen Williamson.

Registry Manager: Dr. Eve Griffin.

Data Manager: Ms. Christina Dillon.

Data Registration Officers: Ms. Una Walsh; Ms. Ursula Burke; Ms. Liisa Aula; Mr. Alan Boon; Ms. Grace Boon; Ms. Catherine Murphy; Mr. James Buckley; Ms. Rita Cullivan; Ms. Mary Nix; Mr. Diarmud O'Connor; Ms. Eileen Quinn; Ms. Karen Twomey; Ms. Tricia Shannon; Ms. Agnieszka Biedrycka; Ms. Ailish Melia; Ms. Laura Shehan; Ms. Edel McCarra.

Specific objectives 2015:

- Expand the scope of the Registry data items to include data on psychosocial and psychiatric assessment in at least 12 hospitals.
- Research into predictors of short-term and long-term risk of repeated self-harm and suicide among self-harm patients with a history of multiple acts of self-harm (i.e. major repeaters) and those engaging in highly lethal acts of self-harm.
- Research into method escalation among people who engage in repeated acts of self-harm - PhD research conducted by Caroline Daly (In collaboration with School of Pharmacy and Centre for Suicide Prevention, University of Manchester).
- On-going linkage of data from the National Self-Harm Registry Ireland with suicide mortality data at national level.
- On-going identification of emerging clusters of self-harm using geo-spatial analyses.

Northern Ireland Registry of Self-Harm

The Northern Ireland Registry of Self Harm is managed by the Public Health Agency in Northern Ireland. The Registry was introduced in the Western Trust Area in 2007 as part of the Protect Life - Suicide Prevention Strategy, using comparable standard operating procedures to that of the National Self Harm Registry Ireland. The Registry has been implemented across all Health and Social Care Trusts in Northern Ireland since April 2012.

As part of the operation of this Registry, the National Suicide Research Foundation provides the following services:

- Statistical analysis and independent verification of data from the NI Registry.
- Contribution to quarterly and annual reporting of data from the Registry.
- Preparation of a series of comparative journal papers.

Suicide Support & Information System (SSIS)

The SSIS is an innovative system that was developed to provide access to support for those bereaved by suicide, while also, collecting information on risk factors associated with suicide and deaths classified as open verdicts.

The SSIS aims:

- To improve the support available to people bereaved by suicide.
- To identify and better understand the causes of suicide.
- To identify and improve the response to clusters of suicide and extended suicide e.g. (filicide-suicide and familicide).
- To better define the incidence and pattern of suicide in Ireland.
- To identify persons who present for medical treatment following deliberate self-harm and who subsequently die by suicide.

Personnel Involved: Lead Principal Investigator: Prof. Ella Arensman; Dr Celine Larkin; Ms. Jacklyn McCarthy; Ms. Eileen Williamson; Prof. Ivan Perry (NSRF; Epidemiology and Public Health, University College Cork).

Specific objectives 2015:

- Following successful implementation of the SSIS Psychological Autopsy Model in the Donegal Mental Health Services, exploration of national implementation of the SSIS Psychological Autopsy Model in mental health services in Ireland at national level.
- Exploration of SSIS data collection at national level in conjunction with the National Drug-related Deaths Index from the HRB.
- On-going analysis and dissemination of SSIS data for the purpose of papers for peer review journals, with emphasis on specific priorities, including:
  - Risk factors associated with suicide among young adults and middle aged men in Ireland;
  - Risk factors associated with suicide in specific occupational groups;
  - Alcohol in suicides and self-harm: Findings from the Suicide Support and Information System and the National Self-Harm Registry Ireland.
- On-going analysis of emerging suicide and self-harm clusters using geo-spatial analyses, and identification of suicide risk profiles associated with suicide clustering and contagion (In collaboration with the National Centre for Geocomputation, Maynooth University and the Department of Geography, Swansea University, Cardiff).

Study Aim:

The purpose of this research is to examine the patterns in use of drugs involved in intentional drug overdose (IDO) in Ireland and to determine the factors which affect this.

Objective 1: IDO remains the most common method of self-harm in Ireland and the UK, accounting for 65-85% of all Emergency Department self-harm presentations. In the ROI and NI the category of 'Other drugs' are the second most frequently used in overdose, following minor tranquillisers. In 2012 and 2013 "Other drugs" were taken in more than one quarter (27%) of all ROI intentional overdose acts, the highest ever recorded since the initiation of the Registry, with little or no gender differences in intake. In previous calendar years, in NI 'Other drugs' were taken in 23% of IDO acts. Despite the extensive prevalence of these drugs in intentional overdose acts, we currently do not know what types of drugs are represented within this category.

Objective 1, to be carried out in 2015, will examine in fine detail the drugs involved in IDO. This will involve exploring of drug classification systems and the appropriate application of a selected system to the applicable datasets in the ROI and NI.

Objective 2 and 3 will involve the mapping of frequently used drugs and also examine patterns of switching within and between methods of self-harm among persons who engage in IDO.

A STUDY OF THE FACTORS THAT INFLUENCE THE DETERMINATION OF SUICIDE IN IRELAND

Study Aim:

This study aims to test the hypothesis that due to the obligation on coroners to satisfy the legal test of beyond reasonable doubt, a significant number of suicides are classified as death due to misadventure, undetermined, accidental or are given open verdicts.

The specific questions which the research seeks to address are:

1. Would the use of a balance of probabilities approach by coroners instead of being bound to satisfy the beyond reasonable doubt legal test make a difference to Irish suicide mortality data?
2. What factors explain the differences associated with verdicts of suicide and open or misadventure verdicts?
3. What is the impact on suicide statistics of coroners and Gardai's decision-making?
4. Is there potential for the use of an operational set of criteria to aid coroners and Gardai in their decision making

Personnel Involved: Supervisors: Dr. Claire Edwards (Applied Social Studies, University College Cork); Dr. Cairiona Ni Laoire (Applied Social Studies, University College Cork); Prof. Ella Arensman; Dr. Paul Corcoran (NSRF; Cork University Maternity Hospital).

E-Self Management of Depression Launch Seminar

The National Suicide Research Foundation held a free Seminar on the 25th June for the iFightDepression free, internet-based, self-management programme for mild to moderate depression. This system aims to help individuals to self-manage their symptoms and promotes recovery, with guidance from their GP or mental health professional. The seminar included presentations and discussion of current and future programmes of mental health care as well as panel discussion and an open Q&A session. The seminar was held to raise awareness of and promote the wide use of iFightDepression self-management tool.

Information Evening

The NSRF held a public Information Evening on April 14th entitled "Self-Harm: Recent Trends, Assessment and Intervention". The evening included presentations from Dr. Eve Griffin (NSRF), Rose Lynch for the Crisis Nurse Service for Deliberate Self-Harm (Emergency Department, CUH) and from Marguerite Kiely from Pieta House. A Q&A session and Panel Discussion was held, with Finola O'Callaghan from GROW and Dr. Mary Joyce from the National DBT Project. Attendees appreciated receiving information from all perspectives, with real-life, human approach.

Responding to Suicidal Crisis – Research, Policy and Practice in Ireland

The National Suicide Research Foundation (NSRF) and Cork Samaritans co-hosted a free event on Thursday, September 11th. The seminar included research as well as a practice session, and covered several topics such as life-events, mental health and work-related factors associated with suicidal crisis, monitoring real-time incidence of self-harm and suicide and evidence-based approaches to responding to crisis.

The seminar also marked the launch of SSIS-ACE, a case-control study aimed at identifying psycho-social, psychiatric and work-related factors associated with suicide in Ireland. The study will focus on three groups of people; those who have died by suicide, those presenting with a near-fatal episode of self-harm and general practice patients. Diverse stakeholders from general practice, liaison psychiatry and the coroner service are facilitating the rollout of the SSIS-ACE study. This project is being conducted by the NSRF and the Department of Epidemiology and Public Health, UCC.

ACAMH SIG Conference

Friday, October 10th marked World Mental Health Day. A one-day research conference on Youth Mental Health was co-hosted by the Association for Child and Adolescent Mental Health (ACAMH) Special Interest Group (SIG) in Youth Mental Health, the Inspire Ireland Foundation and the National Suicide Research Foundation. The conference brought together leading researchers, practitioners, young people and service users from Ireland and the UK to showcase the latest research and practice in the field of youth mental health. The conference was extremely well attended and included a varied number of speakers and poster presentations, all acknowledging the day's theme of "Transitions and Youth Mental Health".

"For new models of mental health care to work, every one of us involved in youth mental health needs to contribute to the conversation about how to create better and more responsive mental health services in Ireland. The co-hosting of the conference by the Inspire Ireland Foundation and the National Suicide Research Foundation reflects the commitment among many organisations to work together to address mental health issues affecting Irish young people." Eileen Williamson, NSRF Executive Director.

World Suicide Prevention Day

Professor Ella Arensman, NSRF Director of Research and International Association for Suicide Prevention President, introduced World Suicide Prevention Day, September 10th 2014, and its theme, "Suicide Prevention: One World Connected", which reflected that connections are important at several levels to enhance strategies to prevent suicide worldwide.

Professor Arensman spoke of the symbolic activity "Cycle Around the Globe" which promotes World Suicide Prevention Day each year since 2003. The Cycle Around the Globe challenge is to collectively cycle the circumference of the globe, 40,075 km or 24,900 miles, and to have participants cycling on every continent. The NSRF hosted a Cycle Around the Globe event on September 11th which contributed to the total distance reached, which amounted to almost four times the circumference of the planet or a total of 121,963.3 miles or 196,282 kilometers.

Social Media and Website

The NSRF is continuing to enhance its profile, to engage with the general public and to promote the organisation to a wider audience. We want to communicate to members of the public who we are, what we do and why we do it. Social media is an integral part of the NSRF's communications strategy. Social media networks allow the NSRF to disseminate research findings quickly and effectively to other researchers and professionals, as well as to the general public.

Twitter is a fast paced outlet for both the NSRF and its followers to keep up to date with current news and events in the mental health sector. Hashtags are now becoming more popular to update delegates and support networking during conferences. Covering these conferences live on social media allows those not in attendance to follow and participate in discussions online. The NSRF's Facebook page has grown throughout 2014, now with over 1,600 likes. Communication and engagement for this page, and its posts, has a significant outreach.

The NSRF website continues to be a strong resource of information for both professionals and non-professionals. It provides readily available statistics, facts and figures on a 24 hour basis for people across the globe.

The financial reporting framework that has been applied in their preparation is Irish law and the accounting standards issued by the Financial Reporting Council and promulgated by the Institute of Chartered Accountants in Ireland (Generally Accepted Accounting Practice in Ireland).

This report is made solely to the company's members, as a body, in accordance with Section 193 of the Companies Act, 1990. Our work has been undertaken so that we might state to the company's members those matters we are required to state to them in an auditor's report and for no other purpose. To the fullest extent permitted by law, we do not accept or assume responsibility to anyone other than the company and the company's members as a body, for our work, for this report, or for the opinions we have formed.

Respective responsibilities of the members and auditors

As explained more fully in the Members Report set out on pages 48 & 49, the members are responsible for the preparation of the financial statements giving a true and fair view. Our responsibility is to audit and express an opinion on the financial statements in accordance with Irish law and International Standards on Auditing (UK and Ireland). Those standards require us to comply with the Auditing Practices Board's Ethical Standards for Auditors.

Scope of the audit of the financial statements

An audit involves obtaining evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements sufficient to give reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatement, whether caused by fraud or error. In addition, we read all the financial and non-financial information in the Members Report to identify material inconsistencies with the audited financial statements, and to identify any information that is apparently materially inconsistent with, the knowledge acquired by us in the course of performing the audit. If we become aware of any apparent material misstatements or inconsistencies we consider the implications for our report.

Opinion on financial statements

In our opinion the financial statements:

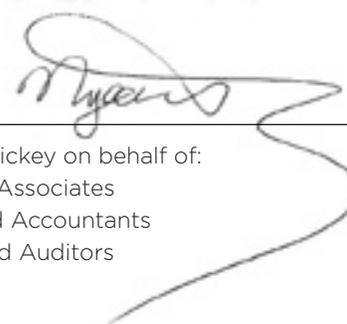

- give a true and fair view, in accordance with Generally Accepted Accounting Practice in Ireland, of the state of the company's affairs as at 31 December 2014 and of its profit for the year then ended ; and
- have been properly prepared in accordance with the requirements of the Companies Acts, 1963 to 2013.
